TAX SUMMARY<sup>1</sup>

I. DIRECT TAXES

Taxation of Individuals

Nature of Tax: Residents are taxed on their worldwide income. Nonresidents are taxed on income sourced from the Solomon Islands. The tax year is the calendar year.

Chargeable Income is income according to ordinary concepts and includes income from business, employment, lease and rent, dividends, interest, discounts, pensions, charges, annuities, and alimony received. Income from employment includes wages, salaries, other cash allowances, benefits-in-kind, and any private expenditure either paid for or reimbursed by an employer. Certain costs borne by an employer are excluded from employment income, such as employee home passage, medical services, and contributions paid to an approved pension fund. Many types of income are subject to presumptive or final taxes. These, with few specific exceptions, include income from employment, dividends, and interest. As such with effect from January 1, 2006, most employees or those individuals not in business are not required to lodge income tax returns.

Resident Individuals	Rates (in percent)
Up to $15,000	11
$15,001–$30,000	23
$30,001–$60,000	35
$60,001 and up	40

Exemptions and deductions: Normal business expenses are deductible against chargeable income. A $7,800 personal exemption applies to both resident and nonresident individuals. This general exemption is subject to apportionment on a pro-rata basis should the individual commence work part way through the year. In addition, the first $5,000 of interest income on deposits made with any savings bank or on fixed deposit accounts with any bank in the Solomon Islands are excluded from chargeable income. Alimony payments are also deductible against chargeable income. Residents are able to claim foreign tax credits for any overseas income tax.

Taxation of Companies

Nature of tax: Tax is payable on the worldwide income of a resident company, whereas a nonresident company is taxed on income accrued in or derived from the Solomon Islands.

The tax year is the calendar year, although any person may apply for a substituted accounting period.

Companies incorporated in the Solomon Islands are residents. Resident companies are taxed at a flat rate of 30 percent, with nonresident companies being subject to a 35 percent tax rate. To prevent the double taxation of corporate profits, a deduction is allowed for any dividend paid where dividend withholding tax has been correctly deducted and remitted. The rate of dividend withholding tax for a resident company or individual shareholder is 20 percent with 30 percent applying to a nonresident or a resident body of persons other than a corporation. The withholding tax deducted is final for a nonresident, a resident body of persons other than a company, and a resident individual where the total amount of dividends, directors fees, and interest income for the year is less than $10,000.

A provisional payment system for income tax applies to companies and businesses. Quarterly payments of taxes are made in the current year, based on the assessed income of the previous year. Such payments are credited against the tax for the year when the annual assessment is made. For those taxpayers in a loss situation, a turnover tax of 0.5 percent of gross income applies. The maximum of income tax payable for these taxpayers is $20,000.

Exemptions and deductions: Both resident and nonresident investors undertaking commercial, economic, industrial or professional activity in the Solomon Islands may apply to the Commissioner of Inland Revenue for an exemption from income tax. Depending upon the type of enterprise, the tax holiday may be for periods ranging from three to ten years. Strict criteria apply, with the benefits and costs to the national interest of the country being the chief consideration. Where the original investor proposes additional investment to the value of $10,000,000 or more, and has satisfied the conditions stipulated in relation to the original investment, the Commissioner may grant a further tax holiday of up to five years. Rural community developments with investment of $5,000,000 or more may also qualify for tax holiday. The Commissioner may also grant full or partial exemptions from income tax for certain activities:

- Tourist hotels, resorts and other tourist oriented projects (5 years);
- Export projects (3 to 6 years);
- Agricultural, forestry, animal husbandry and fisheries activities (profits for 5 of 10 years);
- Factory construction (40 percent depreciation in year one, then 5 percent per year thereafter);
- 200 percent deduction for costs of higher education courses (local and overseas) and apprentices at the Solomon Islands College of Higher Education; and
- 150 percent deduction for inter-provincial transport costs of raw material and qualifying products.

The Minister of Finance also has the discretion to exempt any income or class of income by way of Order.

Statutory exemption from income tax applies to a range of government, quasi government, nonprofit, religious and sporting bodies.

Losses are able to be carried forward for five years and be set off against future profits if majority shareholding remains unchanged. Bond issues are exempt until the amount capitalized is distributed. Business license fees paid to provinces may be claimed as a deduction or treated as prepayments of income tax. Accelerated depreciation is provided for capital expenditure in timber and mining operations, while certain expenditures on agricultural development, including for coconuts, palm oil, and cocoa, can be written off in full in the year they are incurred.

Social Security Contributions

Nature of tax: Compulsory social security scheme for all public and private employees. A total of 7.5 percent of earnings is paid by the employer, and 5 percent by the employee.

Capital Gains Tax

None, except for business assets.

Withholding Taxes

Certain payments made to both resident and nonresident taxpayers are subject to withholding taxes. The list below specifies the nature of the payment subject to withholding tax. The payer is required to withhold the specified percentage of gross payment and forward such to the Commissioner on behalf of the payee. Depending on the circumstances of the taxpayer, the withholding tax may be deemed final or interim.

II. INDIRECT TAXES

	Rates
Beer	$4.00 per liter

Cigarettes	$0.185 per stick or $277.00 per kg for cigarettes containing tobacco with a tar content more than 16 milligrams per cigarette.

Goods Tax

Nature of tax: Imposed and levied on the final wholesale price of goods that are produced domestically or imported, whether new or used. Manufacturers and wholesale merchants are required to register with the Inland Revenue and are obliged to calculate the tax payable, charge and collect the tax from customers, and pay the tax to the Inland Revenue Division each month. Nonregistered importers, or those that choose not to quote their registration on import documentation, pay Goods Tax before goods are cleared by Customs. The value for Goods Tax in these cases is 130 percent of the sum of the Cost-in-Freight Customs value and the Customs duty.

	Rates
Imported goods	15
Locally manufactured goods	10
Rice	5

Exemptions and deductions: Exemption from Goods Tax applies to the following goods.

- Drugs and medicine, and surgical tools;

The Minister of Finance has by way of Order discretion to exempt specific goods from goods tax. Official guidelines have been released setting out the criteria for exemption applications. The guidelines approved by the Minister of Finance in June 2006 state that exemptions will be assessed on the benefits and costs to the national interest and requires that details of all exemptions granted be Gazetted. Both the Inland Revenue Division and Customs Division have established Exemption Committees to consider applications and provide advice to the Minister.

In addition to the above, applications for ad hoc exemptions from import or export duty are considered by a committee that makes recommendations to the Minister for Finance for decision.
