

INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND
INTERPRETER/TRANSLATOR
PORTUGUESE - ENGLISH
ASSIGNMENTS IN AFRICA

The International Monetary Fund is seeking interpreter/translators to work under short-term contracts for its missions to Africa. Candidates must be professional conference interpreters with knowledge of economic terminology, capable of working into Portuguese and English and of producing final written translations into both languages in electronic format.

Working knowledge of French will be considered a plus. Ability to work under pressure as part of a team is essential, and familiarity with word processing software is a much valued asset.

Selected candidates will be notified directly and may be convened for interpretation/translation tests and interviews.

Please send your CV by (Date – [two weeks from last day of ad publication]), listing your qualifications, interpretation and translation experience, and indicating your telephone/fax number and/or e-mail address to: languagecandidates@imf.org.
