

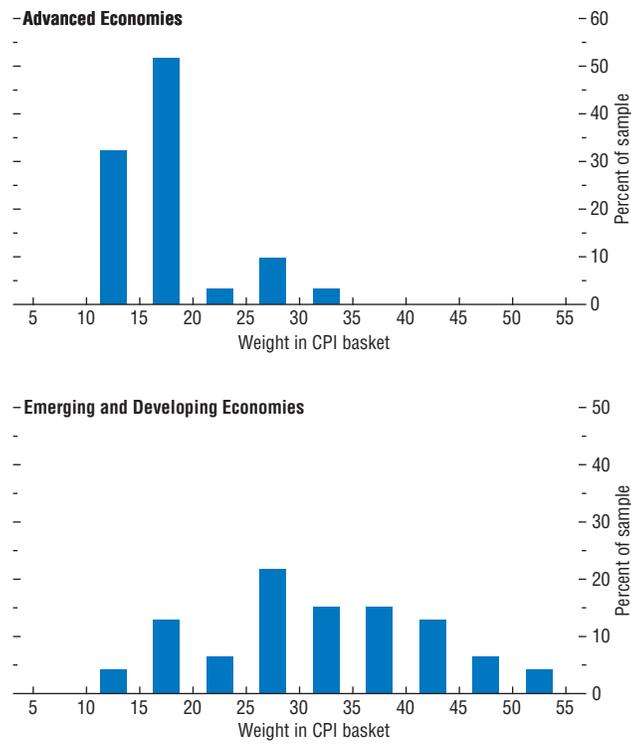

Figure 3.6. Food Share in the Consumption Basket

Emerging and developing economies tend to have a much higher share of food in their consumption baskets. The median CPI weight in advanced economies is 17 percent, whereas the median weight for emerging and developing economies is 31 percent.

Source: Haver Analytics.